

Fr. Michael Nicosia received his BFA in Art and Art Education from Syracuse University in 1977; it was in an Interior Design class that watercolors became his preferred medium. After a 14-year career in retail advertising, he pursued a religious vocation. Since completion of his Masters of Divinity in 1999 from St. Bernard's School of Theology and Ministry in his hometown of Rochester NY, he continued to use his artistic talents as a liturgical consultant and in various chaplaincy and parish ministries.

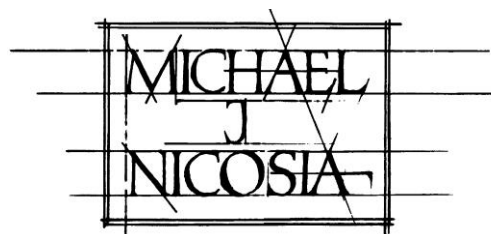

Moving to Denver, he found a spiritual home in the Ecumenical Catholic Communion. His sisters and brothers of Pax Christi ECC Church recognized his gifts and called him to the ordained ministry in 2012. Fr. Michael currently serves Pax Christi as Pastor, as the Presiding Bishop's Vicar to the Rocky Mountain Region, and on the Colorado Council of Churches' Judicatory Board and its Board of Directors.

A cabaret singer and Native American flute musician, his company Spirit Songs provides musical programs for retirement and assisted living facilities. Having recently launched an on-line store featuring his artwork, Fr. Michael has begun exhibiting at various venues around the Greater Denver Area. With a current show in the lobby of 6th Avenue United Church of Christ (corner of Adams), his next exhibit will be at Denver's La Cour Art Bar & Bistro throughout the month of July.
